Denbur, Inc. was originally founded in 1979 as a consulting firm that worked with numerous dental manufacturing companies. The knowledge and experience they gained working with these manufacturers allowed them to begin manufacturing their own products, specifically in the dental market. Since 1990, they have introduced various unique and innovative products and continue to develop new ideas today. In 2016, they received the Governor's Export Award for Exporter of the year. They also received this prestigious award in 2014. Denbur exports to over 62 countries including China. The company proudly advertises that 100% of this product is made in the United States.

Fari Maissami, President of Denbur Inc., has designed twenty different applicators. One of the well known items that Denbur, Inc. manufactures is EZ-Floss, which are patented flossing applicators. This item comes in several different dispensing packages and is now available at select Albertsons/Jewel Osco Stores. Denbur, Inc. also manufactures applicators and brushes that are flexible, allowing them to reach small spaces. The applicators can also be used outside of the dental industry and are marketed towards industries that use brushes for fine/detailed painting, such as hobby stores. Denbur, Inc. continues to introduce new and exciting ideas and has worked hard to establish highly qualified products over the years.
